To Whom it May Concern:

Summit County is in the process of evaluating its long-term solid waste management strategy. One of the alternatives the County is actively considering is the expansion of the current Three Mile Canyon landfill into surrounding lands owned by the Utelite Corporation. For many years the County has had a good working relationship with its neighbor and in fact purchased its original 100 acre parcel from the Utelite Corporation.

It is anticipated that the Board of County Commissioners will be actively considering a range of alternative solutions for our future solid waste needs in the next few months. Expansion of our current facility into new areas of the Utelite property in the future is one of the active options we will be considering.

Sincerely,

Kevin Callahan
